Art Unit: 3723

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claim 13 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Dubiel (4513827) in view of Maurer (UK1014081) and Figure 2 of the instant application

Dubiel discloses all of the claimed subject matter except for the drive bit being in the form of an anvil. Dubiel discloses a drive bit having a round body, a square head, and a recessed radius portion formed between the head and body. Maurer discloses a drive bit being in the form of an anvil having a round body and a square head. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to form the drive bit of Dubiel as an anvil to enable the device to be used as an impact wrench as taught by Maurer.

Maurer further discloses a square head having a detent engageable with a spring in a longitudinal spring hole wherein the spring hole is surrounded by a recessed portion. Figure 2 of the instant application includes a role pin hole and a roll pin in the head of an anvil/drive bit. Figure 2 of the instant application is omitted prior art by applicant. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to form the device of Dubiel with a spring in a longitudinal spring hole wherein the spring hole is surrounded by a recessed portion to enable the retaining of a socket as taught by Maurer. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to form the spring/hole of the detent mechanism, of the device of Dubiel as modified by Maurer, as a role pin hole adapted to receive a roll pin as taught by Figure 2 of the instant application.

3. Claims 1, 4-7 and 10-12 are allowed.
4. In view of the papers filed March 31, 2004, it has been found that this nonprovisional application, as filed, through error and without deceptive intent, improperly set forth the inventorship, and accordingly, this application has been corrected in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(a). The inventorship of this application has been changed by adding Beverly Kivett as an inventor.

The application will be forwarded to the Office of Initial Patent Examination (OIPE) for issuance of a corrected filing receipt, and correction of Office records to reflect the inventorship as corrected.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

6. Applicant's arguments filed December 20, 2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive with respect to claim 13.

Maurer discloses a square head having a detent engageable with a spring in a longitudinal spring hole wherein the spring hole is surrounded by a recessed portion.

Note figure 1 of Maurer. Figure 2 of the instant application includes a role pin hole and a roll pin in the head of an anvil/drive bit. It would have been obvious to form the device of Dubiel with a spring in a longitudinal spring hole wherein the spring hole is surrounded by a recessed portion to enable the retaining of a socket as taught by Maurer. It would have been obvious to form the spring/hole of the detent mechanism, of the device of Dubiel as modified by Maurer, as a role pin hole adapted to receive a roll pin as taught by Figure 2 of the instant application.

Consequently, the rejection as set forth in paragraph 2, above, discloses the claimed subject matter including a longitudinal spring hole and a recessed portion.
